

Support Fairness: The DREAM Act of 2017 (S.1615/H.R. 3440)

The bipartisan DREAM Act promotes our nation's core values and the rule of law by fixing a crucial flaw in the immigration laws.

- The Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program provided temporary legal status to young people who were brought here as children--through no fault of their own--and now find themselves in legal limbo under our nation's dysfunctional immigration system.
- Ending DACA rescinds work authorization and protection for nearly 800,000 otherwise law-abiding immigrant young people and puts them in danger of being deported from the only home many of them have ever known.
- As Americans, we do not hold children legally accountable for the actions of their parents, and the present system does nothing to promote the rule of law or our nation's fundamental values.
- The bipartisan DREAM Act creates a legal path for DACA recipients to gain permanent legal status and continue contributing to their communities.
- To be eligible under the DREAM Act, young people must go through a lengthy process that involves a number of restrictions and requirements. Dreamers must meet educational or work requirements, pass background checks, and have been in the country for at least 4 years.

"Dreamers" make huge contributions to our economy, our communities, and our country.

- DACA has been a great success from economic, national security and humanitarian standpoints.
 - More than 97% of DACA recipients are in school or in the workforce, 5% started their own business, 65% have purchased a vehicle, and 16% purchased their first home.
- By eliminating this program, the U.S. economy will lose $460.3 billion from the national GDP and $24.6 billion in Social Security and Medicare tax contributions over the next decade.
 - Illinois has over 42,000 DACA recipients (the third highest number in the country).
 - A recent study estimates that Illinois will lose nearly $2.3 billion in annual GDP from removing DACA workers.
- Dreamers are future doctors, engineers, teachers, and soldiers who will continue to make our country stronger.

Congress should pass a clean version of the bipartisan DREAM Act now and then tackle the broader reforms to fix the broken immigration system.

- The root cause of this problem remains our nation's broken immigration system.
- The system ultimately can only be fixed through comprehensive reform. In the meantime, Congress should pass the DREAM Act without delay and without attempting to address the other problems in our dysfunctional system in a piecemeal manner.
- The DREAM Act has widespread support from across the political and economic spectrum--including leaders in the military, business, education, and faith communities--and has broad support from the American people as well.
